Mission: BFDDA (The Bellows Falls Downtown Development Alliance) is a private, non-profit organization founded in 1999 "to promote and support revitalization efforts and economic development in the Bellows Falls Downtown Development District, to coordinate with other community groups and Town and Village governing bodies in regard to ongoing development efforts, and to aid and assist other efforts to that end."

Participation in BFDDA is open equally to all property owners, residents and business owners of the downtown development district, as well as interested members of the general public. A revitalized downtown benefits the village, the town and the area.

Focus Area: The downtown development district extends within the village of Bellows Falls, Vermont, from the intersection of Atkinson and Westminster Streets (the fountain at Red Light Hill) along both sides of Westminster Street through the downtown to the intersection of Atkinson and Rockingham Streets (at Cumberland Farms) and includes "the Island" between the Bellows Falls Canal and the Connecticut River.
